The new TigerCats have a big road block to overcome to make the Grey Cup in 2018. It's a familiar story as the Hamilton Tiger-Cats have made the playoffs in each of the last five years. The competition doesn't stop there. There's another team from the East Division that makes the big game every year. That's the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. They've played for the West Division Championship in six of the last seven years. The bookmakers may still say Tiger-Cats, but Hamilton is the team to beat. How to win the Grey Cup: 5 keys to victory will take you behind the scenes to see just how good these two teams are.

1. Adjusting to change - there's a lot of inexperience in the team Hamilton was playing against last year. On offence, rookie back wideout DaVaris Daniels played in his first CFL game. He made an immediate impact on his first play, rushing for 34 yards. The experience and connections on the team from last year make the new Hamilton team even better. Hamilton has traded in some players and added talented newcomers. Veteran receivers Andrew Harris and Terrence Toliver are gone. In comes Stampeders captain Logan Kilgore and veteran Terrence Toliver. 2. Adjusting to play against a new style of defence - Hamilton won the East Division two years ago. Last year, they were 8-4 when they played in the division. Winnipeg's defensive scheme is all about getting pressure on the quarterback. They focused on stopping the run in 2018. When Hamilton opened their season in Winnipeg, they were given a message by the Blue Bombers: We're a better team than you are. How do you feel after such a message? 3. Protect the quarterback - Dak Prescott was very vocal on the field. He was a great leader. He was also the quarterback in Prescott's first CFL start in October. The running back position was a big strength for Prescott in his rookie year. In his first start, he ran for 129 yards. He was more measured this year with just four rushing touchdowns. Now the focus is on Hamilton's defensive backfield. It was an area of weakness last year. Sure, free safety Jaoun Schwartz has a lot of experience. As does reserve corner Patrick Neiges. But the position was a major weakness for the offence. The new defensive backfield should be better.

Association of CD44 with internalized CXCR4 is required for transendothelial migration and arrest of human T cells in inflamed venules. In this study, we describe the role of CD44 and CXCR4 in the migration and arrest of leukocytes in inflamed venules in vivo. When compared with wild-type mice, mice expressing human CD44, but not human CXCR4, were severely impaired in their ability to migrate in response to TNF-alpha into inflamed venules. Mice expressing human CD44 and human CXCR4 showed a TNF-alpha-dependent homing of mouse CD4(+) and CD8(+) T cells into human brain microvascular endothelial cell monolayers in vitro. When studied in the mouse brain, human CD44-expressing T cells accumulated at the brain surface, where they arrested and rolled, but never transmigrated, whereas human CXCR4-expressing T cells rapidly rolled but did not firmly arrest. Finally, in human cell-based adhesion assays, both T-cell CD44 and CXCR4 were necessary for firm adhesion to human brain microvascular endothelial cell monolayers, and for adhesion to human endothelial cells under flow conditions.
